November 4th Breakfast Meeting:

Human Resource Planning: Unconventional Talent Building that Works

Approved for 1.0 HRCI Credits

8:00 AM at the Crowne Plaza in King of Prussia

This presentation offers a high-impact Human Resource Planning (HRP) methodology to dramatically improve the company's talent base and raise the value of the firm. The recommended road to change requires a big "Switch" to new unconventional HR strategies for staffing, rewards and employee development.

The program will illustrate how HRP is foremost a leadership development top-down change initiative for performance excellence. HR professionals will understand both the mindset required to champion true organization change and the barriers in traditional HR practice that can prevent it. Participants will receive a specific game plan to implement at their worksite including instructions on how to use HRP to approach senior management to ensure buy in.

Brian Jensen is currently Vice President HR and Talent Acquisition for Movers Specialty Service Inc. in Montgomeryville, PA where he leads not just HR, but corporate communications, web-marketing and sales support. Brian also owns "Switch HR" his web blog and consulting practice. Throughout his career Brian has championed unconventional human resource management strategies while expanding his HR role to include assignments as Divisional GM Steven Smith, Principal, Human Resources, began his Edward Jones career in 2003, joining the firm as the director of HR in the Operations Division. In 2007, Steven assumed responsibility for HR, Talent Management, Learning and Development, Organizational Effectiveness, and Home Office Recruiting. Talent Management aligns efforts that identify, attract and develop diverse associates to achieve firm results. Smith was named a principal with the firm in 2007. Originally from St. Louis, Smith earned a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology from the University of Missouri-Columbia and a Master's Degree in Business Administration from St. Louis University. He has completed the Series 7 exam. Prior to joining Edward Jones, Smith was a compensation and organization development principal at Buck Consultants, an international human resources consulting firm. While at Buck, Smith led projects for many financial services firms, including Edward Jones.

Andy Hunt, Principal, Financial Advisor, Andy began his career with Edward Jones in 1999 as a financial advisor in Media, PA. He continues to serve that community today. Early in his career, he began distinguishing himself and has served the firm in many capacities, including volunteering as a visiting veteran, a growth leader and a performance specialist. As his business grew, he brought in two new financial advisors to help him better serve clients. In addition, Andy has

He is a spirited public speaker, blogger, college educator and consultant on workplace effectiveness, sales support strategies and creative use of affordable technologies to improve business results.

President's Message

Dear HR Colleagues,

Believe it or not, Thanksgiving Day is right around the corner. This November holiday has become the time we traditionally give thanks for special blessings in our lives. At one of the Total Rewards sessions at the Delaware Valley HR Partnership Summit, the presenter asked attendees to list 10 things they were thankful for. I thought that premise was a good starting point for my message to you this month.

Ten very special things I am thankful for are as follows:

1. I am thankful to have a wonderful family that supports me.

2. I am very grateful to have a job when so many of my colleagues are struggling to find work. This struggle worries me greatly.
3. I am thankful for the Greater Valley Forge HR Association and the many outstanding Board Members and Committee Members who generously share their talents for the advancement of our chapter and our membership.
4. I am thankful to our sponsors who generously support our organization. Without this support, our programming efforts would not be possible.
5. I am grateful to our meeting speakers who are willing to share their expertise with us. On November 4th, our November 9th dinner meeting speakers, Steven Smith and Andy Hunt, will be speaking about the Edward Jones culture of excellence.
6. I am grateful for the GVFHRA Career Transition group that will meet on November 8th this month. I am thankful that Frank Powell and Lee Hecht Harrison are leading this effort in assisting our members in transition, not only with job leads and skills, but with keeping spirits up in this very tough economy.
7. I am thrilled about the GVFHRA programs that will assist our members be the best that they can be in their HR careers or to assist them in their professional challenges. On November 10th, we will learn about Fiduciary Responsibility with Tina Gorskey, Esq. On November 11th, Alex Smith, Sandy Miller and Mike Gatta will share information about Social Media and on November 12 and 19th, our PHR/SPHR Study Group will meet at the DeVry University campus in King of Prussia.
8. I am grateful to the local colleges and universities who are educating our future HR Leaders and future SHRM/GVFHRA members.
9. I am thankful that the DVHRP conference was a great success and I am especially grateful to Nicole Sakowitz, GVFHRA Chairperson for the event, and to the many, many volunteers who made success possible.

10. Of all the things I am thankful for, I am particularly thankful to all of you - the members of GVFHRA. You are the most generous, caring group of people who are willing to share your time and talents for the benefit of all of us. I am thankful that our paths have crossed and that I have gotten to know you.

Thank you for all you do every day to support GVFHRA!

The Social Media Explosion:
How Does it Affect You in Attracting
the Best Talent?

Thursday, November 11, 2010 1:30pm-4:30pm

Approved for 2.25 HRCI Credits

DeVry University
King of Prussia, PA

Social media is one of the newest tools in communications. Many businesses are still trying to determine how best to use it to build their brand and help their businesses grow.

Many forward thinking organizations have found ways to use social media. One of the most growing sectors to embrace social media and use it effectively is human resources. Social media lets you build a community. It's a unique way to let potential candidates know about your organization and the culture before the candidate even applies. This can help the pre-screening process as well as to help reduce turnover.

In our connected world, jobseekers have more tools than ever to scrutinize your company and brand before an application is ever received. Social media can allow qualified jobseekers to be a part of your community before an opening may even be available. The community you build gives you access to people who are interested in your company. These people can share job postings that they can share with their contacts, friends, and followers to virally spread news about job openings.

In this seminar, we will cover the major social media options such as Facebook, Twitter, Blogs and LinkedIn. We will discuss what each of these sites has to offer and how they function. What are some easy ways to get involved right way and also long-term? This seminar will give each recruiter the basics to determine what would work in their company based on their social media policies.

We will also discuss some of the myths and challenges social media presents to companies. How can you show value to your CEO? What are some companies that are using it very effectively for human resources? Whether you're a large or small company, there are relatively easy ways to jump into social media!

At the conclusion of the seminar you will have the opportunity to ask Alex & Mike questions.

What You Don't See Can Make All the Difference: The Hidden Obstacles in a Job Transition

Place and Time

Lee Hecht Harrison Office, 1055 Westlakes Dr.,
Berwyn, PA 19132

Meeting starts promptly at 5:30 PM; ends promptly at 7:00 PM

Description

In the past eight years, Paul Hilt has helped almost 5,000 individuals identify, understand, and leverage their core strengths. In that time, it has become clear that there are numerous hidden obstacles that interfere with an individual's ability to describe how he/she adds significant value. Since communicating this message is essential during a job transition, it is very important to be aware of and understand these obstacles. Paul has identified 12 separate obstacles and will share real-life stories about each. In addition, he will also identify strategies on how to deal with obstacles the participants most want to work on during the presentation.

Presenter

Paul Hilt, Strengths-Based Career, Business, and Retirement Coach

Background

Paul Hilt leads Hilt & Associates, a coaching and consulting organization. Paul is known for his innovative Wind-At-Your-Back Coaching Process, an approach that enables individuals-whether employees in an organization, external consultants, entrepreneurial business owners, or those approaching retirement-to dramatically increase the amount of time they operate at their very best. It focuses on an in-depth exploration of one's intangible assets (e.g., strengths, passions, relationships) and the creation of an actionable plan to translate these unique assets into a much more successful career, business, or retirement.

Paul has expertise in the fields of marketing, organization development, and knowledge management. In addition to his work with individuals, Paul has experience working with a wide variety of organizations and industries including ARAMARK, Citizens Bank, Wyeth, Social Security Administration, Morgan Stanley, Penn State University, Girl Scouts of USA, Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce Executives, and numerous school districts. At St. Joseph's University, Paul taught graduate and executive MBA classes. He is a co-founder of the Knowledge Management Group of Philadelphia.

Holiday Party and Silent Auction

Auction Items Needed!

This year's holiday event will be held on Tuesday, December 14 at the Crowne Plaza. Please mark your calendar now!

This is a fun-packed evening! We'll be networking and having fun! You won't be disappointed, we guarantee it! Proceeds from the auction will benefit the SHRM Foundation and The Montgomery County Foundation.

The Special Projects Committee is accepting donations for the Silent Auction.

This year we will continue the tradition of a Silent Auction, but will also be adding smaller items for the Chinese Auction. What makes a good item to donate? Think about something you want to bid on and there's your answer. Still stumped? Here are some ideas to get you started:

- Candle Gift Basket
- Tickets for our local Philly teams (Eagles, Sixers, Flyers, etc.)
- A gift certificate from a local merchant
- Handmade jewelry
- Tickets to a play
- Theme basket (Chocolates, Holiday, Movie)
- Personal services: manicure, massage, hair styling

You can also place an ad in the Auction Program Booklet distributed to every attendee. Ads cost as little as $25 and proceeds go to the same worthy charities. Contact Maria Brice at (610) 256-6389 or MariaCBrice@yahoo.com with questions or if you need more information.

about
SEMINAR

Qualified retirement plan sponsors are responsible for compliance with complex reporting, disclosure and general qualification requirements imposed by the Internal Revenue Code and the fiduciary responsibility provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”). ERISA fiduciaries are often said to be charged with the “highest duty known to the law” and face personal liability for breaches. Many plan sponsors assume that hiring administrative service providers such as actuaries, recordkeepers, accountants and consultants satisfies their obligations to sponsored plans and employees/participants in those plans by “outsourcing” their fiduciary responsibilities. Unfortunately, fiduciary duties can never be completely outsourced. Plan fiduciaries are charged with monitoring service providers and ultimately bear the responsibility for administrative or operational problems that may arise.

Topics Covered: Compliance Framework for Employee Benefit Plans, What is a fiduciary?, Who is a fiduciary?, Basic fiduciary duties, Delegation of Responsibilities, Settlor vs. Fiduciary Acts, Limiting Liability, Prohibited Transactions, Correction Programs, Action Steps & Resources

Tina Gorskey, J.D., USI Consulting Group

Tina Gorskey is Chief Legal Officer and Director of Legal Services at USI Consulting Group. Together, with a team of attorneys, paralegals and consultants, she works directly with clients in the design, implementation and ongoing administration of employee retirement, health and welfare and executive compensation programs. Tina also consults with clients regarding ERISA and fiduciary issues and the effects of changes in corporate structure and other corporate transactions on employee benefit plans. She assists clients with IRS and DOL audits, correction of plan defects, the drafting of required plan documentation, IRS filings, as well as ongoing compliance with constantly changing federal laws and regulations.
